

From February 11 to 15, 2022, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 381 likely voters in New York using SMS and web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ± 5 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=381 unless otherwise specified.

[13] Some lawmakers in Congress are proposing investing $30 billion to prepare for possible future pandemics. This funding would be used to strengthen American supply chains, research vaccines and treatments, expand early detection and testing capacity, and increase the size of America's stockpile of supplies needed for responding to pandemics.

Do you support or oppose this proposal to invest in pandemic preparedness?
