

DATA FOR PROGRESS

From November 20 to 22, 2024, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,225 U.S. likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, geography, and recalled presidential vote. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error associated with the sample size is ± 3 percentage points. Results for subgroups of the sample are subject to increased margins of error. Partisanship reflected in tabulations is based on self-identified party affiliation, not partisan registration. For more information please visit dataforprogress.org/our-methodology.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=1,225 unless otherwise specified.

[8] When thinking about the U.S. renewing diplomatic ties with Cuba, which of the following statements comes closest to your view, even if neither is exactly right?

Response	Topline	Democrat	Independent / Third party	Republican	Female	Male	Under 45	45+	No College	College	Black or African American	White	Latino
The U.S. should renew diplomatic ties with Cuba. Our Cold War feud is over — it is time for the U.S. to restore its relations and trade to help meet Cubans' urgent need for food and other resources.	52	66	54	39	48	57	62	47	46	63	61	48	59
The U.S. should not renew diplomatic ties with Cuba. We should be hesitant to partner with a country whose government officials have close ties to Russia and China and has been accused of human rights violations by the international community.	34	23	29	48	37	31	26	39	38	27	22	37	32
